The Board of Councilmen met at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the President, Mr. tion to the effect that they could "see no objection to the effect of an abbattoir at the foot of Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets," by the Butchers' Association, providing it was conducted in a manner not detrimental to health. The citizens living in the vicinity of Beckman Hill held a meeting and expressed indignation at the proposed erection of slaughter houses near them, and appointed a committee to wait on the Board, and sak that body to rescind the above mentioned resolution. The President of the Board (Mr. Schultz) said in reply that he would like to see the butchers represented, and let the two parties (butchers and citizens) have a "fair stand-up fight" before the Board, and if such a piece ould be proved a nuisance, the resolution should be rescaided.

Wm. B. Dinamore, as President of the Adams Express Company.—The question in this case arises under an ordinance requiring all express wagons in the City of New York to be licensed and numbered. The Adams Express Company owns and employs in its business in this city some 60 wagons, which are not licensed or numbered, pursuant to the provisions of said ordinance. The action is brought to recover the license fee, amounting to $500. The allegation of the Company is that the said wagons being employed to carry goods, merchandise, &c., in and through the City of New York from the other Company is that the said wagons being employed to carry goods, merchandise, &c., in and through the City of New York from the other Company is that the said wagons being employed to carry goods, merchandise, &c., in and through the City of New York from the city of the city of New York from the City of New York from the city of the city of the city of New York from the city of the city Wm. B. Dinamore, as President of the Adams Express Company.—The question in this case arises under an ordinance requiring all express wagons in the City of New York to be licensed and numbered. The Adams Express Company owns and employs in its business in this city some 60 wagons, which are not licensed or numbered, pursuant to the provisions of said ordinance. The action is brought to recover the license fee, amounting to $000. The allegation of the Company is that the said wagons being employed to carry goods, merchandise, &c., in and through the City of New York from the office of the Company to the various depots, and that as no specific charge is made for such transportation other than what is paid for the entire transportation of the goods from the place of receipt to their place of destination, they cannot be considered express wagons within the meaning of the ordinance, which can only be held to apply to city express companies. The point raised by the city is that the compensation which the company receives is paid for transportation over the whole route and that therefore the said wagons are used for transportation over the whole route and that therefore the said wagons are used for transportation of goods for hire within the city within the meaning and contemplation of the ordinance. This being a question which might hereafter be the subject of a civil action, the parties have agreed upon this case, which contains all the facts upon which the controversy depends, and have submitted the same to the Court for decision. The Court after hearing the argument of counsel took the papers and reserved its decision.
